

We've pilloried the clothing and dry goods dealers who pay "premiums" to salesmen for working off slow selling goods. Let them quit the bad practice or take the consequences.

Another fraud (harmless, however) is the custom of calling homemade things "foreign," as a recommendation — "English" hats made in Danbury, "Imported" gloves made at Gloversville.

America beats the world in the manufacture of many cloths. Makes better shoes, better hats, better gloves than the foreigner, who has cheapened most of his stuff to get in under the tariff.

We'll show you some of these excellent homemade things side by side with the best foreign work — if you care to feel proud of your country.

Begin with gloves. ROGERS, PEET & CO. THREE (Prize) BROADWAY, Warren, Boston.
